

EAST END.

ALL ABOUT THE CITY.

Rev. P. B. Wells former pastor of the M. E. church of Abbeville in the city last week for only one day, during which time he paid a call to a number of his friends, of course he could not see all in so short a time, so he left a number of those he left in addition to trouble, not being able to see even to his class.

Rev. Wells is always at home in Abbeville, as he has the "key" to the hearts and homes of this entire community. No pastor of any church in this city was ever more popular or more beloved by all congregations and all classes of people. He was an eloquent, forceful, and earnest preacher, and a loving and faithful pastor.

His unexpected visit was a joyful surprise to all who had the pleasure of seeing him and feeling his hearty hand shake. Come again Brother Wells and stay longer. Your visit would be good for months among this people.

Miss Mary DuPre, accompanied by her pretty little niece, Miss Fannie DuPre, returned home Sunday after several weeks stay with relatives in Spartanburg and Walhalla.

Mr. and Mrs. Marion Locke of Greenville county were the guests of Major and Mrs. Nance several days of the past week.

A number of young people from the city returned home last week from a most delightful "house party" given by Miss Katherine Morrish of Mount Carmel. Miss Morrish is a charming young hostess who knows how to entertain and captivate her guests with that grace and ease of manner that is simply bewitching.

Major and Mrs. Nance with Master Fred returned home Sunday after a visit with his son Mr. Enock Nance and family near Lowndesville. They went to see the "new baby" Master Enock Nance, who was born at the plantation, and says he has a fine lot of corn and good crop of cotton.

Mr. Harry Hill and a few days stay with his home people and friends all of whom are glad to see him.

Mr. Harry Hill recently has moved to the Catholic parsonage on upper Main street. Their departure from Magazine hill is regretted by all.

Miss Antoinette Hammond after an extended visit of several weeks to friends in Columbia, Durham, N. C. and Greenville, returned home last Monday night. She had a delightful trip and will now settle down to business. During her absence Miss Hammond assisted in the Express Office.

Our merchants are now unloading and marking up their goods and by this time all kinds of merchandise and from the general outlook Abbeville bids fair to be the first class market of the up country. In this relation she sustains and holds her enviable reputation, as no city in the State has better business men as merchants, as vendors and more capacious store-rooms. Our cotton men intend to keep abreast with the time, and will pay as much for cotton as any neighboring cities, so upon the whole Abbeville intends to have her full share of trade this season from all over the up country, cotton, or where home receipt and buy what you want as cheap as you can get the same goods anywhere.

The dance given at the Eureka hotel last Sunday night, by Mr. W. L. McCall, manager, was one of the delightful social functions of the season. It was given in honor of his friends from Anderson, Miss Sullivan and Miss Brown.

Miss Jennie May Dunn after a pleasant stay with friends at Rock Hill, returned home yesterday.

Mr. W. J. Bryson one of the popular conductors of the city has just returned from a delightful visit to his home at Cashiers.

The dwelling of Mr. Lawton of Magazine hill is getting on nicely, the frame work is up and we now hear the ring of the hammer as it falls on the wooden joists.

Mrs. Roseman, nee Miss Salie Little of Lincoln, N. C., is the guest of her friend Mrs. J. L. McCall.

Miss Margaret McCord went to Greenwood last Saturday as delegate from the Golden Link Society of Abbeville, returning Monday.

On last Sunday morning Rev. J. C. Roper preached on the responsibility and duty of parents, impressing upon them the importance of training their children aright, bringing them to church and looking after their spiritual training.

In the evening his discourse was from the text, "Choose ye this day whom you will serve." He divided his subject into "two ways," one leading to heaven and the other to hell, he said some of his hearers might be at the parting of the road tonight, and he urged upon them the great importance of making their choice, which choice would choose before they left the house as it might be their last opportunity.

The service was very impressive and should have moved the hearts of any who had not made a choice of these "two ways." The meeting will come through tonight and perhaps all the week. The public are cordially invited to attend.

The many friends of Mr. W. T. Bradley are glad to welcome him home again, and hope he will be fully restored to health.

Mr. George Hamilton has been visiting relatives in and around the city for several weeks. Mr. Hamilton is now on his native South-back at his home near Abbeville, and many friends are glad to see him. He will return to his home near Augusta, Ga., today.

The following young men left yesterday for Clemson College: Mr. W. L. McCall, Mr. Charles and W. J. Evans, Langdon and Calhoun Haskell, John Hill, Albert Robertson, Hugh Ostrom.

"ON ROUTE 3."

Messrs L. T. E. and J. A. Wilson were in the city last Saturday on business.

Mr. J. R. Thornton accompanied by his daughter Miss Annie, were among the visitors in the city last Saturday.

Major Parker was a welcome guest in the city Saturday.

The weather for the past week or so has been ideal, and farmers have been making hay while the sun was in the sky, and in fodder, and looking after the picking of cotton so you see his busy times "down on the farm" last week.

Messrs. N. Schram and R. W. Knox were among the visitors in the city last Saturday.

Mr. John Ivy, Mr. M. R. Brown, and daughter, Miss Nellie, of Atlanta were visiting relatives, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Woodhurst last week.

Miss Susie Johnson, of Chester, has been visiting friends in the city, and will spend a while with friends at Abbeville.

FARMERS UNION BUREAU.

Conducted by S. C. Farmers' Union

The National Meeting at Little Rock.

This, the Fourth National Meeting of the Farmer's Educational and Co-operative Union of America, is beyond doubt the most determined and successful organization of farmers for business purposes that has ever existed.

We realize the importance of the minimum prices set by the Carolina and Georgia growers' associations for sea island grown bales and bales of gaspian long cotton and recommend that all members' Union men stand by minimum set by the Sea-Island Growers' Association.

M. A. Brown, Mississippi.
J. C. Strubling, S. Carolina.
W. M. Carline, Florida.
Committee.

Hush! Be Still and Listen for the Minimum Prices set by the Farmers Union September 3rd to 6th.

When the wires begin to ring out the Farmers Union minimum prices for cotton let everybody join in a regular song and stand by the minimum prices and will be well for the good of the whole South.

Before you offer a resolution that is likely to be lost, think of the consequences. It is not the second thought—it can be done. Just so sure as there is a good time and place to begin, there is a good time and place to stop in everything. It is stated that the good wife of a South Carolina Farmer has been asked to give three sons in one day. At the next meeting of his local union a committee was appointed to acquire the land for himself and family, or did he intend this time to give his son a mild reprimand? At last account the committee was not in shape to make a report.

Oh no! When your local was organized the thing was not finished.

You were not organized for the purpose of passing a law, but to cooperate with each other for the good of all.

Organization without cooperation is something like spending a lot of time putting on style, and losing lots of sleep and other things too tedious to mention to win your position, and then for the lack of grit and pluck, let some other fellow take the prize.

"Eternal vigilance is the price of liberty." You need not feel yourself by thinking that since you have knocked out the Buckshot shop you can now retire to your home in peace and plenty. You must keep at it all the while looking out for the same old enemies to keep out their heads in a new place. Keep your organizations strong and ready to deal a deadly blow to these snakeheads every time they peep out of the box below.

Ever Hear Anything Like This?

"Not I won't join an organization that has men as its members. If I was in it, right there is where I would drop out."

Now let us live in the same social spirit, church, township, county or state with such men as old Dave. Let us live in the same social spirit, church, township, county or state with such men as old Dave. Let us live in the same social spirit, church, township, county or state with such men as old Dave.

If you can't stay in anything for the good of yourself and all your fellow farmers, because you don't love every man, you know, you had better get up a fork and run him out of your country where you know no one and no one knows you.

Selling Cotton Before it is Made is Taking Chances at the Other Fellow's Game.

When you sell your cotton crop before it is made, you are taking chances at the other fellow's game. You are taking chances at the other fellow's game. You are taking chances at the other fellow's game.

Apply the Test to Yourself.

Have you ever applied the test to yourself? Have you ever applied the test to yourself? Have you ever applied the test to yourself?

Cured Hay Fever and Summer Cold.

A. J. Nussbaum, Batesville, Indiana, writes: "Last year I suffered for three months with a summer cold so distressing that it interfered with my business."

These men that have assembled here represent a class of business farmers that have met face to face what is perhaps the hardest proposition that has ever confronted the South, viz. Namely minimum prices for their great staple crop, cotton, and have been out three times in succession.

These men of the cotton fields of the South who have toiled and produced this great wealth producing for so many years, and been forced to take what other people have chosen to give them as the farmers' share of the wealth that he has produced, have met these hard facts of this situation, and solved this problem not only satisfactory to the growers of cotton but likewise satisfactory to the great majority of the people of the South engaged in other occupations as well.

These farmers that are here and that at Little Rock have a kind of content and determined look about them that only those that have worked long and fought hard can appreciate. These men of the farm know the value of the victory that they have won for themselves and the horrors that 3 and 5 cents cotton brought to the farmers as well as others engaged in other occupations to hold their cotton for reasonable prices, and get it.

These estimates and prices acted upon in this meeting are made up from local unions scattered all over the South. The number of these local now reach more than seventeen thousand.
